The Dale Hollow Lake and Big South Fork National Recreation Area are two of the top trail riding destinations in the East. Hundreds of miles of trails await riders of all skill sets; even wagoners have a variety of trails to consider.

Maybe what sets these trails apart from other opportunities are the spectacular views – bluffs, rock formations, waterfalls and canyons are just some examples of the natural beauty to be uncovered. Elevation changes are common, but not too severe. Several horse camps are available along the way as well.

The Big South Fork is known as the “Trail Riding Capital of the Southeast” and is just a few miles from Dale Hollow Lake. This vast natural area includes well-groomed equestrian trails to suit any rider. Companies such as East Fork Stables, Southeast Pack Trips and Cedar Creek Cattle Company (check out the ads for these companies in this guide) offer custom riding packages for interested parties.

The great outdoors awaits! Camp under the stars, listen to the creatures of the night, take in the vibrant indigenous plant life, enjoy nature at its finest.

If you’re looking for a fun getaway from the lake for a day, horseback riding may be just what you need. If so, you’ve come to the right place!
